A Treasure for the Ages

The St. Louis Carousel, with its more than 60 hand-carved horses and deer, was built in 1920 by the Dentzel Company of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. In the spring of 1929, Forest Park Highlands on Oakland Avenue announced the installation of its new attraction, the $30,000 St. Louis Carousel. When the amusement park was destroyed by fire in 1963, the St. Louis Carousel escaped major damage. Its future, however, was uncertain.

The Faust Park Foundation was formed to raise funds for and awareness of the Carousel's continued maintenance and restoration. In addition to housing the carousel, the building also provides opportunities for private rentals, birthday parties and educational programs for children and families.
