LEGAL SYSTEMS OVERVIEW FOR TELECOMMUNICATORS/ DISPATCHERS

Police dispatchers are asked to classify criminal events based on information supplied by the victim/witness calling for assistance. They use this classification to dispatch officers to the scene.

A clear and correct classification of these crimes by the communications personnel can help in prioritizing each call and sending the proper units. Students who successfully complete this course will have a good understanding of basic Missouri State Statutory Law and be able to properly identify calls for service.

Course includes a detailed study of the most often received calls for service including:

- Destruction of Property
- Burglary
- Robbery
- Assaults
- Bad Checks

Also included will be a section on Liability Issues for dispatchers.

The course instructor, Police Officer Jeff Swatek, Maryland Heights Police Department, with the St. Louis County & Municipal Police Academy

Please bring classroom materials (pen/pencil and paper).
